Items of Local Interest

Lenny Miller, of this office always has a lot of old newspapers on hand for sale cheap.

Dave Ross says bygones be will give a ten dollar note to know the fellow who stole his minnows last week.

Next Monday is county court, and a big crowd is expected. Please call and settle, if you owe this office anything. We need it.

A large meteor fell near town Saturday night, which lighted up the sky, and caused many a sinner to begin studying up his little spiel for St. Peter.

The Captain's Idea.

"Say, Captain, are there two I's in the word bachelor?" asked our office devil of the veteran type, Capt. White. "No, my son, but there are more than two bachelors in it."

Take Degrees.

Rev. C. M. Chumbley, J. W. Sweeney and F. P. Frisbie went to Danville Monday night, where they received the Masonic degrees of Mark Master, Past Master and Most Excellent Master. They will return for the Royal Arch next week.

No, its no trouble to take the morning train if you will telephone Alex Miller and have him call for you. His new closed carriage keeps out the cold and rain. Rates low.

Go to Louisville.

Danville Advocate:—Mr. Arch McKinney, formerly of the Danville revenue office, has been transferred to the Louisville Internal Revenue District, the change to take effect Monday. He will retain his former position of storekeeper and gauger.

Peter Straub Dead.

Mr. Peter Straub died at his home in Stanford Sunday, and was buried in Buffalo Cemetery Monday. He was well-known to many Lancaster people, who regret his death. Mr. Straub played in Gen. Landrum's regimental band during the civil war.

Hanging at Stanford.

Stanford is fixing to have what most of her sister cities need badly, that is a first-class hanging. The Court of Appeals has affirmed the death sentence given the negro, Jas. Hocker, and the governor will set a date for the execution. Hocker murdered his wife.

Sudden Death at Danville.

H. B. Farris died suddenly at Danville Sunday night. While he had been ill for some time, nothing serious was feared, and his death was quite a shock. He leaves a wife and several children, who have deep sympathy in their great bereavement. "Bee" was a clever man, who made a friend of all with whom he had dealings.

A Fair Proposition.

When taxes are paid the merchant is in the front rank. When the subscription paper is passed he is on it the most and the biggest. When tickets for church or charity are sold he is the heaviest purchaser. When public enterprise is to be carried through he gets to carry the burden. Now, when you have to buy things, don't you think you ought to spend your money with the home merchant?

Same in Lancaster, Too.

There is a time in almost every young man's life, says a wise observer, when he imagines that he is really a warm number. When he grows older and by experience accumulates a small store of horse sense, he views the same class of boys with disgust. He meditates on his past and wonders if he was such a confounded fool. A smart alec is about the most despicable mortal that ever drew a breath, but the law forbids killing them and the people are compelled to just grin and bear their presence in the community.

Paxton.

After a protracted illness, little Josephine Paxton died at the home of her grand-parents, Mr and Mrs Alec Robinson, near Gilberts Creek Tuesday morning. She was in her seventh year, and her happy disposition and sweet face had made many friends who are deeply grieved in her death. Hope of her recovery was had until a few days ago, when a change for the worse came, and she suffered much pain until the little spirit took its flight to the arms of a loving Saviour. The deepest sympathy goes out to the grief-stricken parents, both of whom have been on beds of critical sickness for some weeks.

Watterson in Danville.

Arrangements have been completed for a lecture by Hon. Henry Watterson in Danville on Dec. 6th. The many admirers of the great Watterson are delighted to learn of this arrangement, and will take advantage of the opportunity to hear him. It is seldom the people out in the country have a chance to hear Mr. Watterson, and as such a large crowd will attend it would be well to write Mr. Henry Edmonds, at Danville, and secure seats, as standing room will be at a premium.

Katharine Eggleston, Dec. 11. 3t

Circuit Court begins next Monday. The dockets are about as usual.

When you come in Monday, slip an extra dollar into your jeans to give The Record.

Rev. A. R. Moore and family have moved into the Arnold property, on Danville street.

Jno. C. and Joe E. Robinson sold two two car loads of 1350 lb cattle to B. E. Sanders, for Nov. delivery, at $5.60 per cwt.

Rev. C. M. Chumbley and family are moving into the new Presbyterian parsonage. The house is a beauty, and a model of convenience.

Communion Services.

Communion services will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning at the usual hour. Preparatory services will be held tonight.

Protracted Meeting.

A protracted meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church, beginning Nov. 8th. The pastor, Rev. C. M. Chumbley, will be assisted by Rev. W. W. Akers.

Thanksgiving Services.

The Thanksgiving services will be held in the Baptist church Thursday morning at 10:30. Rev. C. M. Chumbley will preach the sermon.

Rev. J. E. Wolford closed a very successful meeting at Gilcat, and is now engaged in another at Broadhead, which will continue through this week. There will be no preaching at the Baptist church Sunday, on this account.

Fine Plant For Sale.

Col. W. P. Walton offers the Harrodsburg Democrat plant for sale, and will make interesting figures for the right man. The plant is one of the best in the state, and it is located in a good-paying territory.

Views of Lancaster.

Mr. Fox, the photographer has recently made some large views of Lancaster, the ones taken from hill on Buckeye and Danville streets being exceptionally good. If you want a picture of your old home, see him. The cost is small.

Going West.

Jones & Turner having sold their grocery store to Mr. Curtis, Mr. Jones will leave shortly for the west, in hope of improving his health. Mr. Jones has not been well for some time, and believes the trip will benefit him. We trust he will soon return sound and all o. k.

Honors For Garrard Men.

The National Fox Hunters Association had a delightful meeting at Bowling Green, which was largely attended. Mr. Ed. Walker, of this county, who is one of the most widely-known hunters in the country, was elected president, and Woods Walker, also of this county, was made a director. Well-known hunters from all over the United States were present.

Mr. Becker Sells Interest.

Mr. C. C. Becker, the hustling Bryantsville merchant, has sold a half interest in his large store to Will Glass, to take effect Jan. 1, and the two will continue to run a first-class store, in every respect. They are both fine business men, and will continue to keep abreast of the times. We have just printed a lot of circulars in which Mr. Becker offers some rare bargains for the next thirty days.

The Crab Orchard Bank.

Crab Orchard has fallen into the line of progress and established a State Bank. The institution is capitalized at $15,000 with the following officers: J. Harve Collier, president; W. E. Perkins, vice president and William Morris, Cashier. The board of directors is composed of some of the most substantial men in Lincoln county. They have begun the erection of a building 28x40 feet on the east side of Main street, the building is to be a substantial brick with glass front and will be ready for occupancy and the institution will begin business January 1st, 1903.

Mr. Dunn Retires.

Mr. J. X. Dunn last week sold his large stock of merchandise, at Bryantsville, to Messrs. R. H. and W. A. Pettus. The stock invoiced about $4,500, and price paid was about eighty-five per cent of this amount. They also bought the store house and lot for $3,025.25. R. D. Ballard bought the home place at $1,250, and Mrs. H. C. Sadler purchased the other residence at $350. Mr. Dunn will leave about the first of the month for Roswell, New Mexico, where he will engage in the fruit business. His business at Bryantsville was all that one could wish, but ill health compelled him to make the change. Mr. Dunn is a fine business man, and a splendid citizen. The Record joins his many friends in wishing success in his new field. The Messrs. Pettus, who take the stand, are splendid citizens and business men of much ability. They will run an up-to-date business, and maintain the high reputation of the house.

Good Servants.

Mr. T. B. Long, who left Friday for Clinton, Mo., took with him four of the colored servants who worked at the Garrard. They were the faithful old porter, Bob McSpaden, George Teyis, the bell boy and two cooks, Laura Mullins and Laura Embry. They were about the best servants in town, the kind that are hard to find.

Handsome Monument.

The Garrard County Marble Works has just completed and put up a handsome monument in the Lancaster Cemetery, on the Perkins lot. It is made of dark Barre granite, beautifully carved, and has an unusually handsome carved cap. This firm is doing good work, and you should give them an opportunity to bid on your work. See ad elsewhere in The Record.

Mr. Gaines Sells Interest.

Danville Advocate:—Mr. G. S. Gaines yesterday sold a half interest in his livery and transfer business, on 4th street, to John T. Reid. Mr. Reid is a well-known business man of Normandy, Spencer county, and will move with his family to Danville about December 1st. The firm will be known as Gaines & Reid.

Thanksgiving "Exchange."

The Ladies of the Baptist Aid Society will have an exchange in the post office on the day before Thanksgiving. All kinds of salads, breads, cakes, and in fact anything you need for your Thanksgiving dinner will be on hand, and at cheap prices. The ladies are striving to raise money to assist in paying for repairs on their church, and you will do a noble act by patronizing them.

A splendid assortment of rubbers at Joseph's. Get a pair before you contract a cold.

Paste This In Your Hat.

As predicted in last issue, the night passenger trains were taken off the Rowland branch, and will run to Livingston. The service we have is as follows: Passenger train No. 10 leaves Rowland every morning except Sunday and passes Lancaster at 5:24, reaching Cincinnati at 10:30 a. m. This train makes close connection at Winchester for Lexington, and also for Louisville, reaching the Falls City at about 10 a. m. Passenger train No. 11 leaves Cincinnati (Fourth St. station) at 2:55 and runs to Rowland, passing Lancaster at 8:26 p. m. You can leave Louisville at 2 p. m., come via Lexington and make close connection with this train at Winchester. In other words, you can have four hours in either Cincinnati or Louisville, or stay in Lexington all day and return to Lancaster at 8:26.

The day mixed train will arrive here at 10:25 a. m., and leave for Rowland at 10:40 a. m., making connections with trains for Louisville and the south. A splendid feature of the new service is the mixed train from Rowland will not wait, but come to Lancaster as soon as the train from Louisville arrives, putting the mail here at 2:05 in the afternoon instead of nearly four o'clock as formerly. There will be no wait at Stanford, the Lancaster train pulling out immediately after the Louisville train gets out of the way.

When in Cincinnati, remember the trains don't leave the Grand Central depot, but depart from the FOURTH ST. STATION, which is one square above and about two squares further out than the Grand Central. The L. and N. out of Louisville leaves the depot at First and Water streets at 2:00 p. m., daily except Sunday. You come on this train to Lexington, change to the C. & O. for Winchester and there take the Lancaster train. There's no wait at either place. No's. 10 and 11 carry mail and express. In going to Cincinnati you change cars at Paris, but as the Cincinnati train is standing alongside the Lancaster train, this is no trouble to do. You also change at Paris in returning from Cincinnati. The mixed trains have no mail clerk, but a pouch is sent out on the train to Stanford and one is brought back in the afternoon, giving us the same mail service. We presume the Louisville afternoon papers will be sent around by Winchester, which will give them to us the same day of publication. There will be no mail opened on Sunday, and if you want your paper, you must be at the post office Saturday night when the mail is opened. The change, on the whole, is not so bad, and we believe the people will like it all right. The company is doing all it can for our benefit, and the continual pulling at the officials by Lancaster people has not been in vain.

A treat is in store for those who love interpretive recitals of meritorious classic and current literature. Miss Katharine Eggleston will appear at the Court House Dec. 11.

To Correspondents.

Please send in your favors a little earlier next week, as we will send the paper out Wednesday night, in order that all hands may put in Thursday giving thanks that they still have soul and body together.

Better Service.

We have arranged to have regular letters from Bryantsville and Paint Lick, and engaged correspondents who will endeavor to send us all the news from these bustling little cities. We give special attention to our county correspondence, as we believe that is what a rural paper is for. We have the best and most faithful corps of writers in the state, and THE RECORD is often complimented on this point by newspaper men.

A Splendid Entertainer.

The monologue play given by Mr. Barker at the court house Monday night, was attended by a small crowd, but those present enjoyed it very much. He is a splendid impersonator. Through the kindness of Mr. W. J. Homer, the piano man, of Danville, the orchestra was enabled to play, Mr. Homer coming over to lead. His kindness is appreciated by those in charge of the entertainment, and by the members of the orchestra also. The "popularity" vote resulted in M. D. Hughes as the best lawyer, R. H. Batson, best merchant and J. B. Kinnaird best doctor.

Absolutely Necessary.

Now that we have a train arriving before midnight, we beg to call attention of the City Council to the need of an are light at the depot, just in front of the mill. There is always a mud hole there, and people coming on the train can not see the walk. This is needed, gentlemen, so please see that it is put there at once. It would not be a bad idea, while on this matter to serve notice on property owners that they must keep the sidewalks and streets free from obstructions. The other night we happened to be coming to town just in front of a drummer, who was lugging two large sample cases. At Northcott's poultry house he ran into the platform which extends over the pavement at that point, and fell about twenty feet, grips going one way and Johnny Drummer the other. He gathered himself up, and, mounting the platform, proceeded to cuss the town, county, state and United States. He commenced at the Mayor and cussed down to the humblest street cleaner, separately and then collectively. Of course that wind-jamming don't amount to anything, but if some fellow plants a suit down on the town, it will then be seen how important it is to keep the street and sidewalks clear.

Col. Billy Burton sold 26 mules to an Atlanta party at $110.

The partridge crop is pretty fair, but not so large as was expected.

For the 'steenth time, the Gilberts Creek post office has been broken into. A few dollars in cash was the amount of booty secured last week.

The turkey crop is panning out well, and Mr. Northcott is buying a great many. See him before selling and he will treat you right.

Those fortunate enough to own hogs are growing quite restless over the continued warm weather. Mr. Porker, however, enjoys the joke.

Sweet Peas.

Miss Levinia Pope sent us a bouquet of beautiful sweet peas, which have been blooming profusely at her home. They were planted last March, and the rapid growth is remarkable.

The post office is open every night for the distribution of the 8:20 train mail. Mr. West is kept at the office until nearly ten o'clock by the change, and Uncle Sam should increase his pay.

Sunday's Paper Tuesday.

The Sunday's Courier Journals reached here Tuesday, and we got our Wednesday's paper yesterday morning. What's the matter, Brer Ford? Can't you yank up a few postal clerks and remind them that Uncle Sam wants his patrons waited upon?

Arrangements were made by the kid football team to play the "second" team of Central University Saturday, but the Danville boys brought over a number of big overgrown farm hands, one of whom could have turned over and spanked all the home urchins, and the latter took their doll rags and left the field.

Contest at Stanford.

Remember the vocal contest to be given at Stanford Thanksgiving night Lancaster has four entries, whose names are given elsewhere, and its a safe prediction that they will rank at the top in the contest. See Dr. W. S. Beazley, of this city, who will gladly arrange seats.

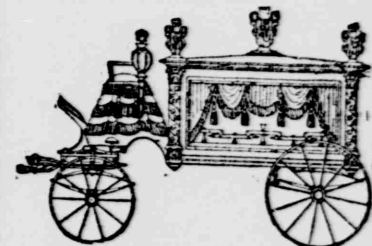

Will be Closed.

For the past eight years, we have been compelled to come to the office on every holiday by some fellow wanting work that he thought he was bound to have. This is not going to work next Thursday, however, as every one connected with the office will be out of town. So don't come beating in the front door, and saying we are never here. One day's rest in eight years is not asking much.
